Mobile Software Engineer (f/m)

(part-time or student job)

About Us

Umbrella Software Development GmbH, located in Leipzig, one of Germany's most beautiful cities, is a young and uprising tech company specializing in the field of mobile. Having a mix of own projects and partnering with well-known companies, such as Volkswagen AG or TomTom International BV, we are looking for talents to support us and join us in our journey.

Your Job

- Software design and development of mobile applications for Android and/or iOS
- Freelance work from our office or your favorite Starbucks coffee shop with flexible working hours
- Semi-regular meetings with the team (at differing locations)
- Regularly write invoices to get paid for the work you've done! ;)

Your Profile

- Current/former student of computer science or a related field
- Smart and gets things done
- Hands-on attitude when facing problems
- Good knowledge of Java and/or Objective C
- Experience in the development for Android/iOS helps
- Previously released app in the Play Store/App Store is a plus
- Version control experience (e.g. SVN)
- English (or German) language skills for communication required

Your Next Step

- Interested? Great, then simply shoot us a short email!
- Doubting about your profile? Contact us as well, maybe we will figure something out!
